Why use a shipping container as a sales department?

At present, the profit margin of the entire real estate industry is shrinking, sales office as a very important sales tool, all suitable design, need to meet the premise of fast turnover, low cost, high utilization. If there is no great investment in the sales office is often more than worth the loss. Huilongfeng next analyzes the common reasons for sales offices.

Temporary sales office

One to high turnover, two to save costs, at present, the limit of the traditional sales office construction cycle is what? Some fast turnover of housing enterprises, has been compressed to 35 days! And this figure for the vast majority of housing enterprises, are out of reach. The container sales office is not new, and many projects have been done before. Because the advantages of container construction are obvious and the construction speed is fast, in general, the single building can be delivered in 3-5 days, and the combined building can be used in 10-30 days, and it is not restricted by the natural environment such as the rainy season, and it can be recycled and reused after use, so many projects will let Huilongfeng use containers to do temporary sales offices.

Retained sales office

Of course, the design of container sales office in HLF factory is not only a way to save costs and compress the construction period, for example, in the context of existing housing sales, many projects have begun to "go to sales office", and the sales office is built as a supporting set of future projects. For customers, it's also what you see is what you get. Many projects attached cafes, additional libraries, are such considerations.

公共设施 Public facilities

Container building and building public facilities have become one of the most popular business formats for enterprises, because of the advantages of disassembly, short construction period and low cost compared with traditional buildings, so major enterprises and public utilities use container building.

单体箱 Monomer container

How does a single container building play a big charm?

In foreign countries, the real excellent container building is a single box, there are 40 feet and 20 feet two specifications, although limited by space and material, but this is the time to play the designer's imagination. Even small rectangular boxes can unlock unlimited functionality. Here, Huilongfeng has organized some excellent single-box buildings, some for commercial, some for government office, some for accommodation, but without exception, they have one thing in common: flexible and small, can adapt to various environments; And maximize the use of mini space.

标准箱 特种箱 Special container

What is the main role of special containers?

Special containers are containers that do not follow international standards for containers, and the size and shape are determined according to their use, such as some equipment boxes, engineering boxes, oil platform boxes, fire boxes, room boxes, advertising boxes, etc.

生产车间 Production shop

Container modular houses rely on its rapid layout, stable structure, changeable shape, environmental protection and energy saving advantages are mostly used in container offices, container hotels and other fields. With light steel as the skeleton, steel plate as the enclosure material, standard modular series for space combination, housing modules using bolt connection, is an environmentally friendly and economical housing.

Prefabrication: Provide one-stop service, from design to installation, reduce subcontractor links. Building efficiency: Modular buildings can be built in a factory without dust and noise pollution. The construction period is calculated by hour, which saves time compared with traditional construction. Scalability: Modular buildings can be customized to increase or decrease the area of use. Sound insulation quality: The sound insulation quality of modular buildings is twice that of traditional buildings. Reuse: Modular buildings are easy to assemble and disassemble, and can be transported to different places for repeated use.

Cost saving: Compared with traditional buildings, modular buildings will save about 30% of the cost, the installation period is short, and the cost budget can be controlled greatly.

污水处理集装箱 Sewage treatment container

This type of product is based on the container structure, the equipment is integrated into the box, and the side panel and bottom plate of the water treatment part are improved to withstand strong water pressure. After the product is transported to the site, the upper outlet pipe can be connected to work normally, and the installation is convenient; Save tedious site construction links, save costs.

Application: Suitable for carrying residential areas, small and medium-sized towns, factories and other water treatment system products Advantages: according to customer needs for box load analysis, box structure optimization and other work to meet customer needs. It can also increase heat preservation, heat dissipation and noise reduction.

Product Description:

1. The corner parts of the container are made of national standard corner parts, and the external side panels and roof are made of Q235 or weatherproof sheet material (according to the use environment and load) steel plate processing and molding, and some materials can be made of stainless steel according to the use needs.
2. Marine heavy anti-corrosion coating is used for spraying.
3. It can be used individually or in groups.

储能集装箱 Energy storage container

Energy storage container

is an important embodiment of new technology, new materials and new equipment applied in smart substation. It is composed of energy storage box, secondary equipment screen cabinet (or rack), cabin auxiliary facilities, etc., through a series of complex processes such as production, assembly, wiring and debugging in the factory, it is transported to the engineering site as a whole, and is located on the installation basis.

Energy storage substation is a new technology in the development of electric power facilities in our country, and the energy storage box of the metal welded structure (container energy storage box change) has become an important part of the electric power development. Cabin safety protection level is high, equipped with fire alarm system, security monitoring system, grounding system, environmental control system and other systems.

侧开门集装箱 Side opening container

Advantages of side open container

Side door containers are very similar to ordinary general purpose containers, the difference is that the side is set up with container doors or folding container doors can be fully opened. This feature provides wider space and access, making it easy to load and unload materials. Open containers usually come in 20 - and 40-foot versions, and they provide plenty of room for oversized items and equipment that can't fit through regular doors.

Container homestays are alternative and fashionable, mobile and convenient, and have become a dream option for many homestays.

With the rapid development of today's society, often pay attention to quality at the same time but also the pursuit of resource conservation, then in the construction is no longer limited to the traditional building materials, which containers give designers a good source of inspiration. Residential containers are mostly in the form of single, two-group combination, three-group combination, etc., relying on the terrain to design, the shape is ever-changing.

Our company sells and repairs various standard containers and special containers (side-opening containers, curtain containers, logistics containers, hanging clothes containers), modular container housing (container hotels, commercial office buildings, sales offices, folk projects, construction site offices, mobile toilets and mobile guardhouses), equipment container boxes (electrical equipment boxes, load testing equipment boxes, SVG equipment shell container boxes, communication mobile container boxes), spreading containers (hydraulic spread-wing containers, gas-top spread-wing containers), light steel structure integrated houses and various container accessories, as well as new energy service development.

Advantages of space cabin accommodation

What do you know about the new model of hotel accommodation - Space Capsule Homestay? The space cabin breaks the traditional way of accommodation, and has a more technological sense, a sense of sophistication and a sense of mystery.

The main body of the space capsule adopts hot-galvanized structural frame and fluorocarbon baking aluminum alloy aviation aluminum shell, using classic colors to enhance visual effects, geometric language is clear and crisp, plane design layout smooth curve appearance function reasonable, can be customized with viewing balcony zero distance contact with nature.
